The Western Canadian Health Information and Privacy Symposium (WCHIPS) is an annual conference attended by health care workers, regional health authorities, health regulator bodies and oversight office staff. The focus is on practical issues with implementation of the stand-alone health information laws in British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba. This conference is co-designed and co-sponsored by the office of the Saskatchewan Information and Privacy Commissioner. The location for this annual conference rotates among the four provinces. The Commissioner and Director of Compliance were speakers at this conference.
